

Didjeridu Workshops

"Your classes are the highlight of our student activities list, learning about culture and having great fun playing together!"

Kiyo Ono,
Global Village Noosa

Workshops are hands-on classes aimed at maximising participation and fun learning to play the didjeridu. Using a unique teaching process, students learn to play basic sounds and tones in a remarkably short time.

Students from schools, colleges, language institutes and community groups are brought together to learn about the significance of the didjeridu to indigenous culture, and to quickly pick up the skills and techniques for mastering the instrument themselves.

No previous experience or musical ability required whatsoever!

- Group Size: 10 to 50 persons
- Cost: $15 per person all inclusive
- Duration: 2 hours
- Practice instruments provided
- In or outdoor anytime
- Ages 10+, with minimal physical requirements
- Schools, colleges, language institutes, community groups, festivals and open air events, public and private events
- Cultural significance and basic playing skills
